- Pages you visit.
- Type of browser and operating system used to access our site.
- Address of the referring website, if you arrived from another website.
- Internet domain and the IP address from which you access our site.

We do use persistent cookies on some online forms. These cookies allow information in certain form fields to be retained on your computer for your convenience so that you do not have to retype the information.

The email address you provide when enrolling for services is stored in a secure database. Your email address will not be sold to any entity outside of JEA. It may, however, be used by JEA for promotional email campaigns.
